

Statement against right-wing ideologies

Dear members of the student body, as representatives of the student body, we would like to take a stand on the current waves of protests on the German streets and say very clearly: We say NO to right-wing extremism!

By now, some of us will certainly have heard about the "secret meeting" of right-wing extremists, AfD members and members of the Werteunion and of the plan discussed there to expel millions of migrants from Germany. To "remigrate", as they call it. Besides the fact that these plans are not compatible with our constitution, the consequences for our society and economy would be massive.

The TUHH as an international and cosmopolitan university and we as a culturally diverse student body should support these protests and join them. Should the xenophobic plans of the right-wing and neo-Nazi police be implemented, international students and lecturers will hardly feel welcome at our university and stay away from our university as a result.

We are committed to our internationally diverse teaching, research and student body and want to show this openly. Right-wing extremism and xenophobia have no place on our campus!

We are therefore delighted that so many people took part in the demonstration last Friday at the Jungfernstieg and the Rathausplatz. There were so many that the demo had to be broken off. We call on you to take part in such demonstrations and discussions actively in your environment!
